Bamboo on you

Bamboo is one of the world's most prolific crops, known for its impressive versatility. The material has found its way into items as diverse as medicines, walking sticks, furniture and scaffolding.

Bamboo Body's range of clothes is made almost entirely from bamboo and was developed by sisters Amanda Naess and Elouise Danby.

The range includes everything from boxer shorts to dresses, from crop pants to maternity wear. The manufacturers claim bamboo fabric has several special qualities including breathing better than cotton and being suitable for eczema sufferers.
